Yaa Serwaah was selling iced kenkey. (Kenkey is made from ground corn. Preparation takes a few days in order to let the dough ferment. After fermentation, the kenkey is partially cooked, wrapped in banana leaves, corn husks, or foil, and steamed.) But when I met her, she was resting under a mango tree. After a lengthy talk, she finally believed salvation is only by faith in Jesus Christ and not by work. She came to church on 7 February with her two children. She demanded a Bible. I told her to come the following Sunday, and she came for the Bible.

Some good news in our ministry is that I have started a new Bible study and prayer meeting at Aputuogya with Brother Akwesi Boateng's family. We meet Fridays at 7 p.m. The last time that we met, our total was 7. I hope it will grow to become a church.

My prayer request is for more workers, wisdom, financial support, and good health for my family.
